NOTE

A Song of the Guns was written under what are probably the most remarkable conditions in which a poem has ever been composed. The author, who is now serving in Flanders, was present at the battle of Loos, and during a lull in the fighting—when the gunners, who had been sleepless for five nights, were resting like tired dogs under their guns—he jotted down the main theme of the poem. After the battle the artillery brigade to which he was attached was ordered to Ypres, and it was during the long trench warfare in this district, within sight of the ruined tower of Ypres Cathedral, that the poem was finally completed. The last three stanzas were written at midnight in Brigade Headquarters with the German shells screaming over into the ruined town.

A SONG OF THE GUNS

These are our masters, the slim
 Grim muzzles that irk in the pit;
 That chafe for the rushing of wheels,
 For the teams plunging madly to bit
 As the gunners wing down to unkey,
 For the trails sweeping half-circle-right,
 For the six breech-blocks clashing as one

To a target viewed clear on the sight—
 Gray masses the shells search and tear
 Into fragments that bunch as they run—
 For the hour of the red battle-harvest,
 The dream of the slaves of the gun!

We have bartered our souls to the guns;
 Every fibre of body and brain
 Have we trained to them, chained to them. Serfs?
 Aye! but proud of the weight of our chain,
 Of our backs that are bowed to their workings,
 To hide them and guard and disguise,
 Of our ears that are deafened with service,
 Of hands that are scarred, and of eyes
 Grown hawklike with marking their prey,
 Of wings that are slashed as with swords
 When we hover, the turn of a blade
 From the death that is sweet to our lords.

THE VOICE OF THE SLAVES

*By the ears and the eyes and the brain,
 By the limbs and the hands and the wings,
 We are slaves to our masters the guns;
 But their slaves are the masters of kings!*

HEADQUARTERS

A league and a league from the trenches,
 from the traversed maze of the lines,— Where daylong the sniper watches and daylong the bullet whines,

 And the cratered earth is in travail with mines and
 with countermines,–

Here, where haply some woman dreamed, (are those her roses that bloom
 In the garden beyond the windows of my littered working-room?)
 We have decked the map for our masters as a bride is decked for the groom.

Here, on each numbered lettered square,–cross-road
 and mound and wire,
 Loophole, redoubt, and emplacement, are the targets
 their mouths desire,– Gay with purples and browns and blues, have we traced them their arcs of fire.

And ever the type-keys clatter; and ever our keen wires bring
 Word from the watchers a-crouch below, word
 from the watchers a-wing;
 And ever we hear the distant growl of our hid guns
 thundering;

Hear it hardly, and turn again to our maps, where
 the trench-lines crawl, Red on the gray and each with a sign for the ranging shrapnel's fall– Snakes that our masters shall scotch at dawn, as is written here on the wall.

For the weeks of our waiting draw to a close....
 There is scarcely a leaf astir
 In the garden beyond my windows where the twilight shadows blur
 The blaze of some woman's roses....

”Bombardment orders, sir.”

GUN-TEAMS

Their rugs are sodden, their heads are down, their tails are turned to the storm.

(Would you know them, you that groomed them in the sleek fat days of peace,—

When the tiles rang to their pawings in the lighted stalls and warm,—

Now the foul clay cakes on breeching-strap and clogs the quick-release?)

The blown rain stings, there is never a star, the tracks are rivers of slime.

(You must harness up by guesswork with a failing torch for light,

Instep-deep in unmade standings, for it’s active-service time,
And our resting weeks are over, and we move
the guns to-night.)

The iron tires slither, the traces sag; their blind
hooves stumble and slide;

They are war-worn, they are weary, soaked with sweat and sopped with rain.

(You must hold them, you must help them, swing
your lead and centre wide

Where the greasy granite pave peters out to squelching drain.)

There is shrapnel bursting a mile in front on the road that the guns must take:

(You are nervous, you are thoughtful, you are shifting in your seat,

As you watch the ragged feathers flicker orange flame and break)–

But the teams are pulling steady down the battered village street.

You have shod them cold, and their coats are long,
and their bellies gray with the mud;
They have done with gloss and polish, but the fighting heart's unbroke.

We, who saw them hobbling after us down white roads flecked with blood, Patient, wondering why we left them, till we lost them in the smoke;

Who have felt them shiver between our knees,
when the shells rain black from the skies,
When the bursting terrors find us and the lines
stampede as one;

Who have watched the pierced limbs quiver and
the pain in stricken eyes,
Know the worth of humble servants, foolish-faithful to their gun!

EYES IN THE AIR

Our guns are a league behind us, our target a mile below,
And there's never a cloud to blind us from the haunts of our lurking foe–
Sunk pit whence his shrapnel tore us, support-trench crest-concealed,

As clear as the charts before us, his ramparts lie revealed.
His panicked watchers spy us, a droning threat in the void;
Their whistling shells outfly us–puff upon puff, deployed
Across the green beneath us, across the flanking grey,
In fume and fire to sheathe us and balk us of our prey.

Below, beyond, above her,
 Their iron web is spun!
 Flicked but unsnared we hover,
 Edged planes against the sun:
 Eyes in the air above his lair,
 The hawks that guide the gun!

No word from earth may reach us save, white against the ground,
 The strips outspread to teach us whose ears are deaf to sound:
 But down the winds that sear us, athwart our engine's shriek,
 We send—and know they hear us, the ranging guns we speak.
 Our visored eyeballs show us their answering pennant, broke
 Eight thousand feet below us, a whirl of flame-stabbed smoke—
 The burst that hangs to guide us, while numbed gloved fingers tap
 From wireless key beside us the circles of the map.

Line—target—short or over—
 Comes, plain as clock-hands run,
 Word from the birds that hover,
 Unblinded, tail to sun—
 Word out of air to range them fair,
 From hawks that guide the gun!

Your flying shells have failed you, your landward guns are dumb:
 Since earth hath naught availed you, these skies be open! Come,
 Where, wild to meet and mate you, flame in their beaks for breath,
 Black doves! the white hawks wait you on the wind-tossed boughs of death.
 These boughs be cold without you, our hearts are hot for this,
 Our wings shall beat about you, our scorching breath shall kiss:
 Till, fraught with that we gave you, fulfilled of our desire,
 You bank,—too late to save you from biting beaks of fire,—

Turn sideways from your lover,
 Shudder and swerve and run,
 Tilt; stagger; and plunge over
 Ablaze against the sun,—
 Doves dead in air, who clomb to dare

The hawks that guide the gun!

SIGNALS

The hot wax drips from the flares
 On the scrawled pink forms that litter
 The bench where he sits; the glitter
 Of stars is framed by the sandbags atop of the dug-out stairs.
 And the lagging watch-hands creep;
 And his cloaked mates murmur in sleep,—
 Forms he can wake with a kick,—
 And he hears, as he plays with the pressel-switch, the strapped receiver click
 On his ear that listens, listens;
 And the candle-flicker glistens
 On the rounded brass of the switch-board where the red wires cluster thick.

Wires from the earth, from the air;
 Wires that whisper and chatter
 At night, when the trench-rats patter
 And nibble among the rations and scuttle back to their lair;
 Wires that are never at rest,—
 For the linesmen tap them and test,
 And ever they tremble with tone:—
 And he knows from a hundred signals the buzzing call of his own,
 The breaks and the vibrant stresses,—
 The Z and the G and the S's That call his hand to the answering key and his mouth to the microphone.

For always the laid guns fret
 On the words that his mouth shall utter,
 When rifle and Maxim stutter
 And the rockets volley to starward from the spurting parapet;

And always his ear must hark
 To the voices out of the dark,–
 For the whisper over the wire,
 From the bombed and the battered trenches where the wounded
 moan
 in the mire,–
 For a sign to waken the thunder
 Which shatters the night in sunder
 With the flash of the leaping muzzles and the beat of battery-fire.

THE OBSERVERS

Ere the last light that leaps the night has hung and shone and died, While yet the breast-high fog of dawn is swathed about the plain,
 By hedge and track our slaves go back, the waning stars for guide, Eyes of our mouths; the mists have cleared, the guns would speak again!

Faint on the ears that strain to hear, their orders trickle down
 "Degrees–twelve–left of zero line–corrector one three eight– Three thousand." ... Shift our trails and lift the muzzles that shall drown
 The rifle's idle chatter when our sendings detonate.

Sending or still, these serve our will; the hidden eyes that mark
 From gutted farm, from laddered tree that scans the furrowed slope,
 From coigns of slag whose pit-ropes sag on burrowed ways and dark,
 In open trench where sandbags hold the steady periscope.

Waking, they know the instant foe, the bullets phutting by,
 The blurring lens, the sodden map, the wires that leak or break!
 Sleeping, they dream of shells that scream adown a sunless sky–
 And the splinters patter round them in their dug-outs as they wake.

Not theirs, the wet glad bayonet, the red and racing hour,
 The rush that clears the bombing-post with knife and hand-grenade;
 Not theirs the zest when, steel to breast, the last survivors cower,—
 Yet can ye hold the ground ye won, save these be there to aid?

These, that observe the shell's far swerve, these of the quiet voice,
 That bids "go on," repeats the range, corrects for fuse or line...
 Though dour the task their masters ask, what room for thought or choice?
 This is ours by right of service, heedless gift of youthful eyne!

Careless they give while yet they live; the dead we tasked too sore
 Bear witness we were naught begrudged of riches or of youth;
 Careless they gave; across their grave our calling salvoes roar,
 And those we maimed come back to us in proof our dead speak truth!

AMMUNITION COLUMN

*I am only a cog in a giant machine, a link of an endless chain:—
 And the rounds are drawn, and the rounds are fired,
 and the empties return again;*

*'Railroad, lorry, and limber; battery, column, and park;
 'To the shelf where the set fuse waits the breech, from the quay where the shells embark.*

We have watered and fed, and eaten our beef; the long dull day drags by,
 As I sit here watching our "Archibalds" strafing an empty sky;
 Puff and flash on the far-off blue round the speck
 one guesses the plane—
 Smoke and spark of the gun-machine that is fed by the endless chain.

I am only a cog in a giant machine, a little link in the chain,
 Waiting a word from the wagon-lines that the guns are hungry again:—

*Column-wagon to battery-wagon, and battery-wagon to gun;
 To the loader kneeling 'twixt trail and wheel from the shops where the steam-lathes run.*

There's a lone mule braying against the line where the mud cakes fetlock-deep!

There's a lone soul humming a hint of a song in the barn where the drivers sleep;

And I hear the pash of the orderly's horse as he canters him down the lane—

Another cog in the gun-machine, a link in the selfsame chain.

I am only a cog in a giant machine, but a vital link in the chain;
 And the Captain has sent from the wagon-line to fill his wagons again:—

*From wagon-limber to gunpit dump; from loader's forearm at breech
 To the working party that melts away when the shrapnel bullets screech.—*

So the restless section pulls out once more in column
 of route from the right,

At the tail of a blood-red afternoon; so the flux of another night
 Bears back the wagons we fill at dawn to the sleeping column again...

Cog on cog in the gun-machine, link on link in the chain!

THE VOICE OF THE GUNS

We are the guns, and your masters! Saw ye our flashes?
 Heard ye the scream of our shells in the night, and the shuddering crashes?

Saw ye our work by the roadside, the gray wounded lying,
 Moaning to God that he made them—the maimed and the dying?

Husbands or sons,

Fathers or lovers, we break them! We are the guns!

We are the guns and ye serve us! Dare ye grow weary, Steadfast at nighttime, at noontime; or waking, when dawn
 winds blow dreary
 Over the fields and the flats and the reeds of the barrier water,
 To wait on the hour of our choosing, the minute decided for slaughter?
 Swift the clock runs;
 Yes, to the ultimate second. Stand to your guns!

We are the guns and we need you! Here in the timbered Pits that are screened by the crest and the copse
 where at dusk ye unlimbered, Pits that one found us—and, finding, gave life (did he flinch from the giving?);
 Laboured by moonlight when wraith of the dead
 brooded yet o'er the living,
 Ere with the sun's
 Rising the sorrowful spirit abandoned its guns.

Who but the guns shall avenge him? Strip us for action!
 Load us and lay to the centremost hair of the dial-sight's refraction.
 Set your quick hands to our levers to compass the sped soul's assoil-ing;
 Brace your taut limbs to the shock when the thrust
 of the barrel recoiling
 Deafens and stuns!
 Vengeance is ours for our servants. Trust ye the guns!

Least of our bond-slaves or greatest, grudge ye the burden?
 Hard is this service of ours which has only our service for guerdon:
 Grow the limbs lax, and unsteady the hands, which
 aforetime we trusted;
 Flawed, the clear crystal of sight; and the clean
 steel of hardihood rusted?
 Dominant ones,
Are we not tried serfs and proven—true to our guns?

*Ye are the guns! Are we worthy? Shall not these speak for us,
 Out of the woods where the torn trees are slashed with the vain bolts that seek for us,*

*Thunder of batteries firing in unison, swish of shell fighting,
Hissing that rushes to silence and breaks to the thud of alighting?
Death that outruns
Horseman and foot? Are we justified? Answer, O guns!*

Yea! by your works are ye justified,—toil unrelieved;
Manifold labours, coördinate each to the sending achieved;
Discipline, not of the feet but the soul, unremitting, unfeigned;
Tortures unholy by flame and by maiming, known, faced, and disdained;
 Courage that shuns
Only foolhardiness;—even by these are ye worthy your guns!

Wherefore—and unto ye only—power has been given;
Yea! beyond man, over men, over desolate cities and riven;
Yea! beyond space, over earth and the seas and the sky's high dominions;
Yea! beyond time, over Hell and the fiends and the Death-Angel's pinions!
 Vigilant ones,
Loose them, and shatter, and spare not. We are the guns!

1.F.

1.F.1. Project Gutenberg volunteers and employees expend considerable effort to identify, do copyright research on, transcribe and proofread works not protected by U.S. copyright law in creating the Project Gutenberg™ collection. Despite these efforts, Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, and the medium on which they may be stored, may contain “Defects,” such as, but not limited to, incomplete, inaccurate or corrupt data, transcription errors, a copyright or other intellectual property infringement, a defective or damaged disk or other medium, a computer virus, or computer codes that damage or cannot be read by your equipment.

1.F.2. LIMITED WARRANTY, DISCLAIMER OF DAMAGES – Except for the “Right of Replacement or Refund” described in paragraph 1.F.3, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the owner of the Project Gutenberg™ trademark, and any other party distributing a Project Gutenberg™ electronic work under this agreement, disclaim all liability to you for damages, costs and expenses, including legal fees. YOU AGREE THAT YOU HAVE NO REMEDIES FOR NEGLIGENCE, STRICT LIABILITY, BREACH OF WARRANTY OR BREACH OF CONTRACT EXCEPT THOSE PROVIDED IN PARAGRAPH 1.F.3. YOU AGREE THAT THE FOUNDATION, THE TRADEMARK OWNER, AND ANY DISTRIBUTOR UNDER THIS AGREEMENT WILL NOT BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR ACTUAL, DIRECT, INDIRECT, CONSEQUENTIAL, PUNITIVE OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES EVEN IF YOU GIVE NOTICE OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGE.

1.F.3. LIMITED RIGHT OF REPLACEMENT OR REFUND – If you discover a defect in this electronic work within 90 days of receiving it, you can receive a refund of the money (if any) you paid for it by sending a written explanation to the person you received the work from. If you received the work on a physical medium, you must return the medium with your written explanation. The person or entity that provided you with the defective work may elect to provide a replacement copy in lieu of a refund. If you received the work electronically, the person or entity providing it to you may choose to give you a second opportunity to receive the work electronically in lieu of a refund. If the second copy is also defective, you may demand a refund in writing without further opportunities to fix the problem.

1.F.4. Except for the limited right of replacement or refund set forth in paragraph 1.F.3, this work is provided to you ‘AS-IS,’ WITH NO OTHER WARRANTIES OF ANY KIND, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR ANY PUR-POSE.

1.F.5. Some states do not allow disclaimers of certain implied warranties or the exclusion or limitation of certain types of damages. If any disclaimer or limitation set forth in this agreement violates the law of the state applicable to this agreement, the agreement shall be interpreted to make the maximum disclaimer or limitation permitted by the applicable state law. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this agreement shall not void the remaining provisions.

1.F.6. INDEMNITY – You agree to indemnify and hold the Foundation, the trademark owner, any agent or employee of the Foundation, anyone providing copies of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works in accordance with this agreement, and any volunteers associated with the production, promotion and distribution of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, harmless from all liability, costs and expenses, including legal fees, that arise directly or indirectly from any of the following which you do or cause to occur: (a) distribution of this or any Project Gutenberg™ work, (b) alteration, modification, or additions or deletions to any Project Gutenberg™ work, and (c) any Defect you cause.

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg™

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need, is critical to reaching Project Gutenberg™'s goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg™ collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg™ and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation web page at <https://www.pgla.org> .

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without wide spread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit <https://www.gutenberg.org/donate>

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg Web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: <https://www.gutenberg.org/donate>

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg™ electronic works.

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg™ concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For thirty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg™ eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg™ eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.
