

Handwritten text in a stylized, decorative script, possibly a signature or a decorative flourish. The text is written in black ink on a white background. The characters are highly stylized and interconnected, with a central zig-zag pattern. There are several small black dots scattered around the main text, possibly serving as decorative elements or markers.

